

May 12 is Arbor Day. Plant a tree, dear reader, plant a tree!

About $400 has been raised on the street in subscriptions for a Fourth of July celebration, and only a small portion of the city has been canvassed. The City Council last evening appointed a committee of five to see what steps could be taken looking toward a proper observance of the day.

The Rockland Uter, which opposed permanent improvements on it the people sat down on it real hard. It has again cut its course up to the point of aiming for a hole in the glorious work of its improvement of our city. It doesn't want permanent improvements stopped, but wants 'em discontinued; it doesn't want the train stopped, it wants it run off the track. That Uter needs a common sense poultice.

COUNTRY CHAT.

The Tramps and Their Quarters—Pounding the Stone.

The tramp's paradise, Tillson's wharf, this city, has been tened in with a high board fence, 70 feet front. It is 270 feet around the yard, and white-headed tramps are now amusing themselves pounding the stone. The fence was built under the personal supervision of Commissioner Mack Ames. "It is a fine move and with a view to energetic overseer we doubt if our jail will be hereafter he-crowded."

There seems to be need of two sessions of Probate Court a month. Probate business has so developed that on a last month's session the day is hardly long enough. What's the matter with twice a month?

The County Commissioners have assessed the County taxes as follows:

Camden will have $19.80 added to its tax to pay the expense of its fire engine.

The nineteen libel cases on liquors seized by Sheriff Gray come before the municipal court Saturday morning and in every instance the lots were defaulted. In one case some Italians claimed a lot but the time for the hearing had passed and a default had been entered. The beer will be distilled into alcohol. Five more lots are already on the libel board awaiting hearing. Sheriff Gray up to date has made 28 seizures, and has on hand 130 gallons of whiskey and rum, and large quantities of beer, ale and the like. The last seizure was made at the depot, Friday, two barrels of beer.

We were in error last week in our reference to E. M. Stahl of Warren as a Deputy Sheriff. He is a constable. The County Commissioners held a little investigation into the status of the Warren tramp business, Saturday. No report is made.

BUILDING STRIKE.

Carpenters, Painters, and Masons "Go Out" For a Nine-Hour Day.

Yesterday, May 1, the Union carpenters, masons and painters "went out" on a strike for a nine-hour day, and the building business in the city is not so brisk as it was. The first day of January last the Carpenters, Masons and Painters Labor Unions notified the contractors that with May 1 they would demand a nine-hour day at the same daily wages that then prevailed. No formal answer was made to this communication. One week ago Saturday the following committee of the Carpenters Union held a consultation with the representatives of the contractors: W. A. Ripley, Robert Sylvester, Charles Jackson, D. A. Packard, Fred Clark. The contractors' representatives at this meeting stated that they favored a nine-hour day, but that they thought the same rule should be made to apply in other parts of the state as well as Rockland.

Wednesday night the Union carpenters made a formal demand for a nine-hour day and stated that unless this demand was conceded the Union carpenters "would cease to look for work from the present source" on May 1. On Friday evening the contractors submitted to the Carpenters Union a counter proposition to the effect that the men continue to work ten hours until next February and then if the nine-hour day of the city in the state had adopted the nine-hour day they would concede, and that for the coming year the men should have a nine-hour Saturday. This proposition was refused, and as a result nearly 200 carpenters, painters and masons are enjoying a vacation. The masons and painters united with the carpenters in the strike.

All of the contractors have a few men at work, and are confident that they can secure all the men they need. The contractors say that it will place them at a great disadvantage to allow their men nine-hour days while all around them are contractors who for the same daily wage get ten hours of work from their employees. The workmen on the other hand say that the nine-hour day is coming, and that it might as well start now and here.

On the 19th the competition drill between companies A and B took place in the Town Hall at Orono. Company B won the toss and took the floor first, while Company A remained in one of the rooms till its turn came. The programs were handed to each captain as he marched his company on the floor. After Company B had gone through the program it was marched off and replaced by Company A who went through the same program as Company B. Following the drill was an individual exhibition of club swinging by F. L. Marston, '96; drill of the dumb bell squad of Freshmen under J. W. Handlette, '96; exhibition of club swinging by a Freshman squad under F. L. Marston; and setting-up drill closed the program. An informal hop was held at the close of the setting-up drill. The judges of the drill were Major Emerson and Lieutenant Pottle who awarded the prize, a silk pennant, to Company A who scored 473 points out of a possible 600, against Company B who scored 455. Both companies did well.

The officers of Company A were: Captain, H. M. Smith; 1st Lieutenant, C. P. Kirtledge; 1st Sergeant, W. H. Jones; Right Guide, H. Murray; Left Guide, F. Bowler. Of Company B: Captain, C. H. Gannett; 1st Lieutenant, J. M. Webster; 1st Sergeant, G. H. Hall; Right Guide, A. D. Hayes; Left Guide, E. H. Cowan.

"Blessed are the merciful for they shall obtain mercy." This was the inscription on one of the blackboards which greeted Prof. Rogers when he entered his class room the other day to give an examination to his class in logic. It is believed his heart was touched by the appeal as the examination was not hard.

OBITUARY MENTION.

Mrs. Lou Warren St. Clair, wife of Gilbert M. St. Clair, recently died at her home, Chestnut street, Wellesley Hills. She leaves a husband and two sons, Albert W. and Willie B.

Cato, son of J. W. and Mrs. Starrett Donigan, died in Bangor, April 30, aged about 11 years. The remains will be removed to Thomaston and the funeral will take place Wednesday from the house of D. J. Starrett at two p.m.

William A. Smith, the well known photographer, died at the Maine General Hospital, Portland, last week, of diabetes. The funeral was held yesterday under the auspices of Rockland Lodge, F. and A. M. Mr. Smith was a very worthy man, industrious and upright, and many friends tender the family their sympathies.

C. p. James S. Colamar died at his residence in Washington, Saturday, April 10, aged 65. He has been an invalid for several years, having contracted a disease while a soldier in the late Rebellion. Capt. Colamar was a native of Lincolnville where he lived until a young man when he moved to Rockland, living there with his sister, Mrs. William Lermond. While in Rockland he followed the sea a while, as master mariner. A few years after the close of the war he moved with his sister and her husband to West Washington, living there until about a year ago when he moved to the village. The captain was an upright, honorable citizen who leaves many friends. He was a member of Bornean Post, G. A. R., his funeral being conducted by that body Monday. The Rev. Glen Newhall attended to the religious part thereof. His brother-in-law, Mr. Lermond, died about a year ago. Mrs. Lermond has the sincere sympathy of the community.

Died at Vinalhaven, April 21, Mrs. Rebecca L. Littlefield. Deceased was the wife of Charles Littlefield of Vinalhaven and the heartiest sympathy of many friends is expressed for the family in their great bereavement. On Easter morning, 1892, she became united with Union church of which organization she has since been an active member. Seven years of her life were spent in active business, and her store became the centre of a large circle of privileged friends. Hers was the rare gift of helpfulness in all conditions of life which came under the magnetic touch of her noble personality. A circle of life-long friends sat in sympathy with her loved ones in a sadness which spoke plainer than words—"She was my friend." Amid a profusion of flowers which she loved so well, she was laid to rest.

years suffered with Heart Disease, was pronounced incurable by physicians, death stared him in the face, could not lie down for fear of

BOSTON LETTER.

Our Weekly Letter from New England's Great Metropolis.

Boston, May 1, 1893.

Most Maine people who come to Boston seem to have a happy faculty of locating in pleasant places. For instance, Dr. C. P. Yeager, a former Thomaston boy, who has an extensive practice among the best people here, has a very pleasant office on Bowdoin street, overlooking the public garden. Although Dr. Yeager has been away from his native place a long time, the list of his patients bears witness to the fact that he has not been forgotten by his many Thomaston friends, as there are many familiar names on it.

The papers speak well of Miss Elliott's characterization of the part of "Lady Miller" in "The Professor's Love Story," as the following, taken from the Globe, will show:
"Rehearsal are two such ungracious roles as those assumed by Misses Maxine Elliott and Nannie Cralford, in the 'Professor's Love Story,' so well taken. The characters can hardly be called conventional, but the acting of the ladies makes the necessary contrasts very distinct and natural."

Capt. Wm. Connelley of Thomaston was in town Monday, en route in Providence where his vessel, the Almada Willey, is discharging.
Capt. Connelley was met here by his daughter, who will accompany him on his next voyage.

Capt. John Dizer, an old Thomaston resident, is now with James Ellis & Co., ship-chandlers, Atlantic avenue, and is very popular with "Down East" captains, as many of them make their headquarters at his store when in town, and it is an unusual thing not to find one of more of them there.

H. D. Kennedy was in New York during the naval review last week, looking after the interests of the City Press Association.

Miss R. de Sylvestre left here last week for a few days visit in Rockland.

Robert Messer, who has been here, returned to Rockland last week.

Theatre goes have a great store for them this week at the Boston Theatre as Mrs.
Mojleska begins a week's engagement at that house tonight. The ever popular "1402" comes to the Globe for the second time this season, and is sure of a warm welcome back to Boston. "The Last Paradise," which secured such a success at the Columbia last year, comes to the Bowdoin Square, and Chester House, in "Innocent," at the Grand Opera House.

RE-ORGANIZED.

cross, Directors. This company puts up the famous Cawther water. The capital stock is placed at $250,000.

THE METHODISTS.

Communication from Presiding Elder—Error in Appointments.

ITH many misgivings the members of the East Maine Conference and their wives started for Machias, April 20. Sea sickness, thick fog, long delays, etc., rose up before them in the trip disagreeable. It required considerable time to start. About forty persons arrived in Rockland, April 19, and spent the night on the beautiful steamer Frank Jones. The next morning was pleasant and we had a most enjoyable trip across the bay and along the coast.
At Eastport, Dr. F. W. Harber, our number was misdirected and at that Harbor about 80 persons joined our company. Others joined us at Millbridge and Bangor and at times in a happy company of 140 landed at Machiasport.
Excellent arrangements had been made by pastor T. J. Wright of Machias and the entire company were soon seated in teams and moving toward Machias. Here we received a hearty welcome and our fears were again not realized for our long stay, made necessary in order to connect with the steamer, was altogether too short. The time passed very pleasantly with a much hospitable people. The Machias session of the conference will go on record as the pleasantest session ever held.
Reluctantly we bade adieu to this kind people April 28, and the largest number ever entertained on the Frank Jones spent the night on this steamer. At 4 a. m. the next day we left Machiasport. It was a delightful day, and the large company enjoyed it greatly. Good times were made and we arrived in Rockland about 5.30 p. m.

Too much praise cannot be given the management of the Frank Jones. Capt. Dennis and Purser Freeman did all in their power to make the trip enjoyable. Steward T. O. Holmes excels in all that he does and was heartily enjoyed. Every member of the party was full of praise and enjoyed the warmest thanks to those officers. By the thoughtfulness the much dreaded trip became one full of pleasure and delight. Pleasant memories of this trip will be long cherished and the attendees the Methodist Conference of 1893.

I. H. W. WHARFF.

The appointments made at the East Maine Conference have not been published in any paper. A mixed up arrangement has appeared in quite a number of papers. I enclose a correct list of Rockland Clergy and if you will compare with published reports you will see a great difference. I hope you will give a correct list in your paper. My district does not reach into the Ansonia.

The incorrect list to which Rev. Mr. Wharff alludes has been found on another page, and it is so very incorrect that we published the corrected list of appointments:

FREIGHTS AND CHARTERS.

Reported From Brown & Company's Weekly Freight Circular.

Business this week has been to some extent alighted by the great naval and land parades, Thursday having been observed as a close holiday. The condition of the market has undergone no change, nor are there any indications of an early reaction from the prolonged and unparalleled depression of freights for distant foreign ports.

Sch. Josiah Cone, from Joseph Abbott; Adie E. Snow and J. R. Howdell, from E.
Cobb & Co., for New York, are loaded and ready for sea.
